

Did you know that Architects & Engineers Professional Liability coverage is not just for Architects and Engineers?

An Architects & Engineers Professional Liability policy is also designed for Interior Designers, Land Surveyors, Pollution Consultants, Project Managers and Other Construction Design Professionals. Your design professional clients could get sued for things like flawed design, errors or miscalculations, defects, not delivering the services they were contracted to provide, among other wrongful acts. Those errors or flawed designs can lead to costly construction delays, property damage and defense costs.

CLAIMS EXAMPLE

An interior designer designs the lighting fixtures himself for the 450 guest rooms at a hotel. When they are completed, he discovers that due to a communication error, the fixtures, which were produced overseas, do not meet UL standards. All 450 fixtures must be replaced. The foreign manufacturer claims that the designer did not communicate this requirement, so they're not responsible.
