Mary Metts, Commercial Broker

Meet the ladies behind the lines (of brokerage business, that is). Senior Broker Whitney Rolf and Commercial Broker Mary Metts' paths aligned five years ago when they were brought together as new hires to assume a book of Midwest business—and they haven't checked the rearview mirror since!

By building a strong team rooted in mutual support, they have exponentially grown their book of business over the past five years. With the promotion of Whitney Rolf to Senior Broker and Mary Metts to Broker, the duo is poised to take over the world, or more realistically, make a significant impact on their corner of the E&S marketplace.

The team welcomed Katie Atkinson as an Assistant Broker, transforming the dynamic duo into a terrific triangle of teamwork. Each residing in their home states of Indiana, Kentucky and Michigan, these women have continued to sprint towards their goals as a formidable team.

Personal Highlights:

Katie Atkinson | Orr Fellow | Assistant Broker | Indiana State University | Indiana

- Favorite Accounts: Environmental policies needing a quick turnaround fill her with joy.
- Orr Fellow Class of 2023: An exclusive program with a 5-8% acceptance rate, matching the next generation of versatile, high-achieving graduates with Indiana-based businesses.
- Fun Fact: Katie doesn't like bread and can say the alphabet backward!

Whitney Rolf | ASLI, AINS | Senior Broker | University of Kentucky | Kentucky

- Favorite Accounts: Challenging manufacturing and construction risks.
- Experience: 10 years in insurance with a background in various sectors of the industry, providing the team with a deeper, well-rounded understanding of the marketplace and how to best assess risks and coverage gaps.
- Fun Fact: Whitney is allergic to gluten and can also say the alphabet backward!

Mary Metts | CISR | Broker | Grand Valley State University | Michigan

- Favorite Accounts: Excess layering, including earthquake coverage.
- Experience: 7 years in the insurance industry, with a background on the agency side working in large and small commercial accounts.
- Fun Fact: Mary enjoys baking homemade bread and is incredibly proud of her teammates' versatility in alphabet recall.
